

The content that is available to the paying subscriber on XM is not of any concern to the government. The open capitalist market works just fine when the consumer, not the government, decides who succeeds or fails. Thank you.